

AAOM/APJM Paper Develop Workshop and Mini conference

Hosted by

International University of Japan

at

Tokyo & Niigata, Japan

February 28-March 1, 2023

Asia Academy of Management (AAOM) and Asia Pacific Journal of Management (APJM) will conduct a paper development workshop (PDW) on February 28, 2023 in Tokyo followed by a mini-conference titled Managing Challenges in the Asia Pacific on March 1, 2023 in Niigata at International University of Japan (IUJ), Japan.

The organizing committee consists of Li-Qun WEI (Editor-in-Chief of APJM), Yingying Zhang Zhang (Professor, Graduate School of International Management) and Maoliang BU (Senior Editor, APJM). Other panelists of PDW will include senior editors of APJM as well as other leading scholars.

The purpose of the PDW is to provide feedback to junior scholars and doctoral students on their research projects that are in advanced stage of development. Consistent with the mission of the Asia Academy of Management, our objective is to encourage scholars to do quality research on issues that are of relevance to Asia. While we certainly hope that the authors will develop their work and submit to APJM, there is no obligation to do so.

We encourage authors to submit their original work under two categories - full length papers and idea papers. Full length papers should not be more than 10,000 words in length, while proposals or paper ideas should not be more than 2500 words in length. You can submit the papers that you have previously submitted to APJM or other journals to get development feedback during the PDW. The space is limited to 20 papers.

Please make your submissions to weiliqun@hkbu.edu.hk by January 31st, 2023. We will make the final decisions and inform the authors by February 15, 2023.

The APJM PDW and mini—Conference is free of charge. Please note that AAOM members will receive priority to attend the PDW. The annual membership fee is HK$700 (About US$ 90) for academics and HK$500 (about US$ 65) for students. You get free electronic subscription to APJM with annual membership. Please feel free to write to Chi-sum WONG (wongcs@cuhk.edu.hk) if you have any questions.
